THE FOREST FIRE SITUATION IS VERY MUCH IMPROVED

THE LIGHT RAINS OF PAST 18 HOURS HAVE PRACTICALLY EXTINGUISHED MOST FIRES

(By United Press)

McGrath, Minn., Sept. 8.—While a steady drizzle for eighteen hours had relieved the forest fire situation materially today there was some danger that a strong east wind early this morning would cause trouble again.

Grass and brush fires in the Onamia district were said to have been practically extinguished by the rain. The White Pine and Solana districts northeast of here were said to be definitely out of danger unless a strong wind fans the flames to new life.

More men had been sent to the fire area northeast of Duluth where serious fires were reported on the French river north of Knife river and near Rice Lake. The rain in that section was not so heavy as further south and it was feared a strong wind today might drive bad fires inland.

There was hardly any rain in Black Duck but Ranger Letourneau reported today that three fires had been brought under control and a fourth was being fought today.

District Forest Ranger C. W. Swedburg at Moose Lake said early today an investigation would begin immediately into the origin of the fire that destroyed the village of White Pine. He said there was no question but that it was incendiary. The fire had started in the McGrath lumber mills after the town had been saved from the forest fires. The lumber mills and other property at White Pine were heavily insured, it was reported.

"We expect to make arrest in a few days," Swedburg told the United Press. "We have been too busy fighting fires to do any investigating." "The rain last night will hold the fires down for two or three days. The east wind today is favorable because an east wind usually means cloudy weather if not rain. We never have any trouble with east wind."

"Should the sun come out again in a day or two we will have other big fires on hand. The forest fire season is just begun. During the respite we expect to go over the territory and make preparations to fight other fires that are sure to come."

"We will map out new fire lines and reorganize fire fighting forces during the delay. When fires break out again we expect to be pretty able to handle the situation. I expect to be out in my territory two or three days."

Military headquarters here said no troops would be moved today unless the situation was such at noon that some changes might warrant. Officials said that while the rain delayed the fire the danger was not entirely over.

STEPS TAKEN TO RELIEF FIRE SUFFERERS

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—The state board of relief met today to take steps for relief for forest fire sufferers.

Probably twenty families who were forced to flee when an incendiary fire wiped out White Pine, are in desperate need of help, according to reports to Governor Preus.

The governor called a meeting of the board to learn what steps might be taken to help them. They are now being cared for by the military headquarters at McGrath.

State Treasurer Henry Rines said the state has no funds now from which relief might be provided but may permit the issuance of certificates of indebtedness and this might be done he said.

Forest fires in all areas were well under control today following rains last night. According to reports to the state forester's office the danger however is not yet past and troops may be kept on watch to supplant the inadequate forest ranger system. Governor Preus said the fire prevention system now in use are inadequate and faulty and he will ask the next legislature to provide adequate means of patrol of the forests. He will also ask that the state establish public parks in the north woods instead of parceling out all of the land to settlers, he said.

Military headquarters at McGrath declared the woman's home was not in danger from the forest fires. It was assumed she became melancholy when smoke from the flames settled over the district.

IDLE MINERS FORM TO SIEGE ILLINOIS MINING PROPERTY

CITIZENS AND DEPUTIES ORGANIZE TO RESIST MINERS INVASION

MINERS STRUCK LAST SEPTEMBER, SINCE WHEN MINES HAVE BEEN NON-UNION

(By United Press.)

Elizabethtown, Ill., Sept. 8.—Citizens and deputies will fight to the last to prevent miners from invading Rosiclare and Elizabethtown, Sheriff Encox told the United Press today.

Encox said citizens were armed and ready to protect the sovereignty of the two mining towns.

Nearly one thousand striking miners were bivouacked in the hills near Elizabethtown preparing to march on Rosiclare and this city today, Encox said.

The miners abandoned their tools last September and since then the Rosiclare mine owners have operated with non-union men.

Early today the situation was quiet. Armed guards and deputies traversed the roads leading to Elizabethtown to meet the miners if they attempted to attack.

Harber's Ridge today looked like an army camp as the men gathered to join the invaders.

Citizens Given Arms

Rosiclare, Ill., Sept. 8.—Every man and woman in this mining town of two thousand was armed today waiting for the attack of the miners encamped nearby reported planned for today.

The armed guards were under command of Walter Howard, town marshal.

Howard declared he did not believe the miners would actually launch an attack but said they were preparing to meet any attempt to storm the town. Howard said there had not been a clash between striking miners and guards or deputies for two weeks. He denied reports of a clash in which deputies claimed to have taken four prisoners.

Telephone wires which were cut were replaced today and Rosiclare was again able to communicate with the outside world giving the residents more of a feeling of security. They knew they could send appeals for assistance in case the striking miners should attack.

FREIGHT TRAIN IS WRECKED BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

ENGINEER IS KILLED; SEVERAL ARE INJURED AND MUCH PROPERTY DAMAGED

STATE MILITARY PROTECTION FOR TRAINS WILL BE ASKED BY RAILROAD OFFICIALS

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 8.—State military protection for trains and workers on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad was to be asked by officials of the road today following a wreck near here last night in which one man was killed, several injured and considerable property damage done.

Engineer John T. Morris in charge of the train, was killed instantly as the locomotive left the track and turned over completely. Those injured were negroes.

Dynamite caused the wreck according to trainmen. The train, a freight, was traveling down an incline about twenty miles an hour when the explosion occurred according to trainmen.

The engine was blown off the track and rolled several feet and turned over pinning Engineer Morris underneath. Efforts to dynamite A. B. & A. trains have been made several times lately according to road officials. Indictments were returned against Mayor J. L. Pittman, of Fitzgerald, Georgia, and eighteen strikers on the railroad Monday charging conspiracy to interfere with operation of the trains.

They were set aside by the court under an alleged illegality of the term of the grand jury during which the presentations were made.

A strike on the A. B. & A. was called late last year when a wage slash was announced. The road later went into the hands of receivership.

Calder proposed a levy of $5 a barrel on 2.75 per cent beer and an increase of from $2.20 to $6.40 a gallon on spirituous liquor.

He will place his proposal before the senate finance committee with figures to show that $175,000,000 annually can be derived from these two sources.

Secretary Mellon appeared before the committee in executive session and placed figures showing how the various proposed tax plans would work.

MARKETING ORGANIZATION IS GREAT NEED OF FARMER

DECLARES CONGRESSMAN ANDERSON—SHOULD BE FREE FROM POLITICS

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 8.—A marketing organization absolutely free from politics is the greatest need of the American farmer, Representative Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the joint congressional commission of agriculture inquiry, declared today.

Cooperative marketing organization would increase quality, quantity and price of farm products, he said, in characterizing as "bunk" attempts to get these results by political action. "Too many organizations are builded along the lines of political action and instead of endeavoring to work out problems occupy themselves largely in passing resolutions and making recommendations to congress," Anderson said.

"They are past masters in passing the buck and frankly congress is passing it back to them."

Anderson was equally frank concerning organizations which attempt to bring about an agricultural millennium by legislation. That type of organization, he said, ends in an inevitable smashup.

Three outstanding benefits that would result from marketing organizations cited by Anderson are:

1—The cost of production to be made, the unmarketable to be eliminated.

2—Additional influence over the price on his commodities would enable the farmer to compete with the great price power of organized industry.

3—Better distribution enabling the farmer to deliver his products at the time and at the place when and where it is needed.

"The first thing to do is to make a thorough study of the production end. That is, get an efficient unit of production and then relate that unit as definitely as possible to a market," Anderson said.

FREIGHT TRAIN IS WRECKED BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

ENGINEER IS KILLED; SEVERAL ARE INJURED AND MUCH PROPERTY DAMAGED

STATE MILITARY PROTECTION FOR TRAINS WILL BE ASKED BY RAILROAD OFFICIALS

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 8.—State military protection for trains and workers on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad was to be asked by officials of the road today following a wreck near here last night in which one man was killed, several injured and considerable property damage done.

Engineer John T. Morris in charge of the train, was killed instantly as the locomotive left the track and turned over completely. Those injured were negroes.

Dynamite caused the wreck according to trainmen. The train, a freight, was traveling down an incline about twenty miles an hour when the explosion occurred according to trainmen.

The engine was blown off the track and rolled several feet and turned over pinning Engineer Morris underneath. Efforts to dynamite A. B. & A. trains have been made several times lately according to road officials. Indictments were returned against Mayor J. L. Pittman, of Fitzgerald, Georgia, and eighteen strikers on the railroad Monday charging conspiracy to interfere with operation of the trains.

They were set aside by the court under an alleged illegality of the term of the grand jury during which the presentations were made.

A strike on the A. B. & A. was called late last year when a wage slash was announced. The road later went into the hands of receivership.

The Amalgamated Association Opposed to Federal Prohibition is arranging a national convention of anti-drys at Washington in October, at which measures for "moderating" existing enforcement acts will be discussed. The Amalgamated Associations were recently organized in New York from nine anti-Volstead societies.

The meeting will probably devote its time to measures for legalizing the use of light wines and beer, the United Veterans' officials said.

WOULD AUTHORIZE 2.75 BEER AND LEVY TAX ON SAME

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 8.—Legislation for 2.75 per cent beer and the imposition of a heavy tax on it would aid congress in solving the tax revision problem Senator Calder of New York said today.

Calder proposed a levy of $5 a barrel on 2.75 per cent beer and an increase of from $2.29 to $6.40 a gallon on spirituous liquor.

He will place his proposal before the senate finance committee with figures to show that $175,000,000 annually can be derived from these two sources.

Secretary Mellon appeared before the committee in executive session and placed figures showing how the various proposed tax plans would work.

MARKETING ORGANIZATION IS GREAT NEED OF FARMER

DECLARES CONGRESSMAN ANDERSON—SHOULD BE FREE FROM POLITICS

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 8.—A marketing organization absolutely free from politics is the greatest need of the American farmer, Representative Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the joint congressional commission of agriculture inquiry, declared today.

Cooperative marketing organization would increase quality, quantity and price of farm products, he said, in characterizing as "bunk" attempts to get these results by political action. "Too many organizations are built along the lines of political action and instead of endeavoring to work out problems occupy themselves largely in passing resolutions and making recommendations to congress," Anderson said.

"They are past masters in passing the buck and frankly congress is passing it back to them."

Anderson was equally frank concerning organizations which attempt to bring about an agricultural millennium by legislation. That type of organization, he said, ends in an inevitable smashup.

Three outstanding benefits that would result from marketing organizations cited by Anderson are:

1—The cost of production to be made, the unmarketable to be eliminated.

2—Additional influence over the price on his commodities would enable the farmer to compete with the great price power of organized industry.

3—Better distribution enabling the farmer to deliver his products at the time and at the place when and where it is needed.

"The first thing to do is to make a thorough study of the production end. That is, get an efficient unit of production and then relate that unit as definitely as possible to a market," Anderson said.

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 8.—Elihu Root, after two long conferences with President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes here, today declined to deny reports that he would become a member of the American delegation at the conference on limitation of armaments.

BUFFALO HEAD HERE

Splendid Specimen Recovered from Sagamore Mine Stripping at County Auditor's Office

At the Sagamore mine, a stripping proposition south of Riverton, have been found between thirty and forty skulls and other bones of extinct wild animals, including buffalo, caribou (a variety of the reindeer) and bones not yet classified.

The work at this time at present is stripping right through a huge swamp, and these bones were found about fourteen feet from the surface. The supposition is that in ages gone by the fear-maddened animals took to the swamp to avoid the glacial drift and were mired in the mud, and so perished.

Samples of the bones have been sent to the Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, D. C., and the opinion sent from there is that the buffalo bones are from a species of bison extinct. The bones of the skull of the buffalo seen by the reporter were unusually large, and the teeth, three molars on each side, were very well preserved. The horns measure nearly a yard from tip to tip, having a broader spread than is seen in the horns of the few buffalo remaining today.

A splendid specimen of the buffalo heads found is on view at the office of the county auditor, C. W. Mahlum, where it can be seen by those interested.

BIG ENTERPRISE

Hackensack Gets Electric Lights Through Initiative of Arvig Bros. of Pine River

(Cass County Pioneer of Walker.) The Arvig Brothers, who are the owners of the Pine River Electric Lighting plant have just finished wiring up Hackensack and the lights have been turned on at that place. There is a good amount of private wiring still to be done to connect up private places but the line is there and it all depends upon private enterprise as to when each individual will get the benefit.

In an interview with Abel Arvig, he disclosed the fact that the firm is now engaged in building a high line to connect up the Pine River system with the Sylvan Lake dam plant and that when this line is completed the entire system will be connected up with the Sylvan dam, Pillager dam, Brainerd gas plant, the Ironton steam plant and the Little Falls Water Power plant. About as perfect a system as could be found in the entire country and one that will guarantee a continuous service.

Their lines already extend below Pequot and there is only a few miles now intervening to be built before the connection can be made.

It also develops that the Cuyuna Range Power Co., who now are lighting Walker, Akeley, Park Rapids and intervening points will, during the coming year connect up their lines through the Park Rapids end with the Pillager plant and finally will build a line from Hackensack to Walker, thus making a continuous circle of wire. When this is accomplished we will never be without light unless some unusual accidents happen as the current could be furnished to any town on the entire circuit from either end of the wires and the lights would not be out but a very few minutes in case of a break in the circuit on either side of any one of the towns.

This is business enterprise with big letters and the two firms deserve credit for their foresight and business sagacity in working up this enterprise.

Fargo, Sept. 8.—Rep. O. B. Burtness will introduce a bill providing for a $500,000 bridge across the Red River between Fargo and Moorhead. Mr. Burtness is of the opinion that since no large boats navigate the Red the war department will not insist on an expensive draw bridge.

Mr. Burtness however opposes any movement to have the river declared non-navigable pointing out that such action would remove the chance of getting a substantial federal appropriation later on for flood control work.

The bones of the skull of the buffalo seen by the reporter were unusually large, and the teeth, three molars on each side, were very well preserved. The horns measure nearly a yard from tip to tip, having a broader spread than is seen in the horns of the few buffalo remaining today.

A splendid specimen of the buffalo heads found is on view at the office of the county auditor, C. W. Mahlum, where it can be seen by those interested.

BIG ENTERPRISE

Hackensack Gets Electric Lights Through Initiative of Arvig Bros. of Pine River

(Cass County Pioneer of Walker.) The Arvig Brothers, who are the owners of the Pine River Electric lighting plant have just finished wiring up Hackensack and the lights have been turned on at that place. There is a good amount of private wiring still to be done to connect up private places but the line is there and it all depends upon private enterprise as to when each individual will get the benefit.

In an interview with Abel Arvig, he disclosed the fact that the firm is now engaged in building a high line to connect up the Pine River system with the Sylvan Lake dam plant and that when this line is completed the entire system will be connected up with the Sylvan dam, Pillager dam, Brainerd gas plant, the Ironton steam plant and the Little Falls Water Power plant. About as perfect a system as could be found in the entire country and one that will guarantee a continuous service.

Their lines already extend below Pequot and there is only a few miles now intervening to be built before the connection can be made.

It also develops that the Cuyuna Range Power Co., who now are lighting Walker, Akeley, Park Rapids and intervening points will, during the coming year connect up their lines through the Park Rapids end with the Pillager plant and finally will build a line from Hackensack to Walker, thus making a continuous circle of wire. When this is accomplished we will never be without light unless some unusual accidents happen as the current could be furnished to any town on the entire circuit from either end of the wires and the lights would not be out but a very few minutes in case of a break in the circuit on either side of any one of the towns.

This is business enterprise with big letters and the two firms deserve credit for their foresight and business sagacity in working up this enterprise.

Propose New Bridge at Fargo

Fargo, Sept. 8.—Rep. O. B. Burtness will introduce a bill providing for a $500,000 bridge across the Red River between Fargo and Moorhead. Mr. Burtness is of the opinion that since no large boats navigate the Red the war department will not insist on an expensive draw bridge.

Mr. Burtness however opposes any movement to have the river declared non-navigable pointing out that such action would remove the chance of getting a substantial federal appropriation later on for flood control work.

DRESSES GO DOWN ALL AROUND IN GERMANY

By CARL D. GROAT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Berlin, Sept. 7.—Germany, never noted for shapely ankles or dainty feet, is about to hide these extremities.

Fashion, as represented by the fall mode week, has decreed that. True, some short skirts were still there, but the prevailing style showed long skirts. Sometimes these were actually long; other times the length was attained by addition of lace or streamers or such like creations.

And, while the lowering of the skirt was thus ordained, the fashion architects also showed a startling tendency to drop the neck, giving an even more delectable effect than the past season's creations permitted.

Furs will be quite popular. Capes, popularized already this summer, were shown extensively, made from silk and lighter fabrics to furs.

The tailors for men also participated in the mode week, and their newest fall styles show a tendency to less color and less fancy sporting lines than was the case a year ago.

BARROWS

THE SLOW MOVING TRUCK

St. Paul has started a campaign against the slow moving truck to get it out of the center of the street where it delays traffic and to get it near the curb where it belongs.

A driver can readily see that when a truck or other slow moving vehicle preempts the center of the street it crowds the passing driver at his rear into territory that belongs to the oncoming car.

There are also many drivers of high powered cars who like to loll along at a five mile gait to show what can be done "on high" and this element, taking the center of the street, also hampers traffic.

On the roads while touring near Brainerd one also meets the man who will not yield an inch to a passing car. He sticks to the center of the road in spite of half a dozen warning honks from the motorist who wishes to pass him. He has no right to the sole possession of the center of the highway.

FEAR TRAINING OF YOUTH MEANS WAR

By CARL D. GROAT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Berlin, Sept. 8.—Pacifists believe the old war-making crowd is trying to train German youth for a new "Krieg" through compulsory physical culture. The draft of a law which the national committee for physical culture has made had led them to believe this law would merely be a substitute for the compulsory service law, now dead. This draft provides that children shall be trained throughout their school years until they become of age, and that no one shall have papers for working positions unless he can prove he has fulfilled the necessary training, either in the schools, in turn or sport societies.

The Versailles treaty provides against organizations of societies for war-training.

And the pacifists contend this new law would not only serve to upbuild the youth for a new war, but would place restrictions on the freedom with which a workman could get a position. On the other hand, the promoters hold that it is well to build a strong nation, and point to the overwhelming post-war sport movement as evidence that Germany wants body-building.

The "Freiheit," organ of the Independent Socialists, writes: "We do not desire to appear to be enemies of sport; we have too often asserted that for workers it is advisable to have a harmonious upbuilding of the body. Labor, however, would do well to remember that it is high time to make up for the war losses in spiritual strength."

NAVAL ESTIMATES EQUAL THIS YEAR

(By United Press)
Washington, Sept. 8.—Despite the disarmament conference the navy department submitted estimates to Budget Director Dawes calling for expenditures during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1922, which equal those of the present year, it was learned today. Navy appropriations for this year were $410,000,000.

"HITCHY" DECLAINS ON U. S. HUMOR

(By United Press)
New York, Sept. 7.—"There ain't no American humor," Raymond Hitchcock, famous comedian, speaking seriously. "And," he continued, "if this be treason, make the most of it."

"Hitchy" told the United Press in an interview today that Americans "have no sense of humor, only a sense of fun."

"A joke has got to be physical, not mental, for them to get it," he explained. "Our humor is the pie-in-the-face kind—slap-stick stuff."

"Of course, we do have a small repertoire of stock stories—some that Cain used to spring on Abel—that we dust off every year and dish out to the public. They like them because they've heard them so often they understand them. You know the kind: 'Don't the gas house smell lovely?' or some such. Sure-fire hit."

"So far as Americans are concerned, you know, a joke is like wine—it has to be aged to be appreciated."

"When you tell a story to an American audience you have to keep in mind that their average vocabulary is about 500 words, including papa, mama, yes, no, prohibition, say, listen, and attah-boy. In fact, our vocabulary has decreased in these post-Volstead days, many words becoming obsolete, such as highball, cocktail, haveanother, don't-care-ifs, stewed and deetees."

"As a proof that there is no such thing as originality in the theatrical field, consider my own case. I break my foot. What happens? Fred Stone, Barney Bernard and all the rest of the boys break theirs. I go into bankruptcy. I pick up the papers and read that Lew Fields has stolen my stuff and gone bankrupt. Take my word for it, the whole profession will be broke before the end of the season."

"Humor? Originality? Bah! The American people won't stand for it!"

And "Hitchy" stalked out of the room with an expression on his classic features that would do credit to the heaviest villain on the stage.

"BUCK" WHARTON RETIRES FROM U. OF P. FOOTBALL

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—Dr. Charles ("Buck") Wharton, veteran line coach of the University of Pennsylvania's football squad, is "through" as a supervisor of football at Penn.

Dr. Wharton, who hasn't missed a year on Penn's coaching staff since 1898, except when serving as major in the medical corps during the world war, has given up his football work at the university in order to give more attention to his school and professional duties.

It has been thought several times during his years of coaching that the squad could get along without Wharton, and he was not placed on the staff, but shortly after the season got under way, an S.O.S. was sent out, for it always became apparent that his place as line coach could not be easily filled.

"Buck," as he always will be known to his football pupils, was a member of the "old school," when Penn's name stood at the head of the list in college football. He was Penn's star guard on the varsity teams of 1893-4-5-6, and was all-American guard after his first football year. He was also captain of Penn's famous team of '06.

In 1898, when Wharton began coaching for Penn, he invented the famous line system of play, an entirely new style of play in those days, which has been modified and revised to fit the requirements of the present-day game. The fundamental principles of this style are still the same.

Among well-known players Wharton has developed are: Bud Wray, Pat Dryer and Ernie Cozens, centers; Lew Little, Niel Matthews, Johnny Tittel and Bill Ward, tackles; Bob Lambert, Carl Thomas, Erstavag and Hemmings, guards; and Helme Miller, Izzy Levine and Hunter Scarlet, ends.

Penn is at least going to start the season without the help of "Buck" Wharton, but there is much speculation in football circles as to whether it won't turn out as it has several times before.

Wharton, who admits having seen fifty summers, looks to be in good enough condition to go off the gridiron today, but his most strenuous physical exertions will be confined to his daily exercise and supervising physical education at Penn.

Tom Meighan at Lyceum

Thomas Meighan is the type of star who thrives upon a red-blooded story with lots of action. He has been given an ideal vehicle in "The Frontier of the Stars," from the magazine serial by Albert Payson Terhune. The picture is being shown at the Lyceum Theatre last time tonight.

Mr. Meighan is cast in the same kind of master-crook role that he had in "The Miracle Man." He is an East Side gang leader, who, escaping from a detective, encounters upon the roof of a tenement house a pretty crippled girl. A friendship develops between the two, and the crook, under her influence, goes the straight and narrow path.

Mr. Meighan's part is a strenuous one, requiring him to fight a couple of bouts at fistfights, to risk his life in a steel mill accident, and finally to rescue the heroine from a tenement. Fairs Binney plays the role of the girl with winning charm.

"Captain Swift"

The bush country of Australia, kangaroos and all, has been splendidly introduced into "Captain Swift," the new Earle Williams feature which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Friday only without the necessity of going to that far away country. This through the good luck of Chester Bennett, who directed the scenes for the prologue, which are laid in Australia. The story proper was England for its locale, and these scenes were made in the vicinity of New York under the direction of Tom Terhune. Then Mr. Williams went to California to do the prologue. Suitable scenery and weather were not to be had in the East.

GREAT ESTATES BROKEN UP BY HEAVY TAXES

By CLYDE A. BEALS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
London, Sept. 8.—The auctioneer's hammer is rattling ominously in England. The recentralization of large ownerships accelerated on both sides of the Atlantic since the war is appearing now in the break-up of ancient estates.

Heavily increased taxation on land accompanied by cost of upkeep far in excess of increases in returns from rentals, makes the holding of large tracts of land not only an unprofitable but even a losing proposition. In 1920 one firm of auctioneers alone sold 349,695 acres of country property. This year thousands of acres of old estates are being sold weekly.

All England has just been startled by the announcement that the Duke of Portland made in an address to his tenants to the effect that his family can hardly hope to continue even another generation the possession of his famous country seat, Welbeck Abbey. This ancient estate, dating from 1154, is especially known for its great amount of underground passages and rooms. What seemed likely to necessitate the breakup of his estate, the Duke said, was the high death duty, known in America as the inheritance tax. This, in England, for estates valued at more than $10,000,000, is 40 per cent.

The Duke of Portland is only one of many. The Duke of Bedford recently made public the statistics of one of his estates, showing that with the taxes and the charitable gifts, which were practically, if not actually, obligatory, the estates actually lost some $25,000 in 1920. The Duke of Bedford has recently been selling much of his town and country property. The Duke of Devonshire recently sold Devonshire House, in the very fashionable Park Lane, London. The old historic house, which to Englishmen seems like one of the bridges back over the centuries, will probably be torn down to make way for a hotel.

Even by that strong labor organ, the "Daily Herald," the breakup of the old estates in the present manner is deplored. "That estates are rapidly changing hands brings no relief," it says, "to the people of the country. The abolition of the old landlord only means the entry of a new one, often quite lacking in the Tory tradition of patriarchal benevolence, which, degrading though it was, served better than the mere commercial doctrine of grab. As it is, we are but changing one master for another, or for a host of others, smaller in estate, but equally possessed of rights which should, in full justice, be common property. Nothing is to be gained by the transference of these lovely places from one who lost financially by the war to one who profited. But the continu-

U. S. TO DOMINATE WORLD'S TRADE UNDER NEW ORDER

By CLYDE A. BEALS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, Sept. 7.—Sir Edgar Lees Jones, English author, lawyer and member of Parliament, who has just returned from the United States, sees America as coming to be a tremendous force in the markets of the world through the thoroughness and vigor of her people.

"The resources of America in production, in finance and in the great qualities of her people," said Sir Edgar, "must mean, when the world settles down, that she will be a tremendous force in the markets of the world, and probably a dominating force."

Sir Edgar feels, on the whole, however, that America is at present in a maze of financial and industrial difficulties. Her expanded mercantile fleet, he pointed out, has become a financial drain. Great quantities of exportable goods were stored in warehouses with no demand, and in some cases, owing to stagnant markets, goods had even been returned to America.

It had been found, he declared, that American banking methods were not as suitable for international commerce as those of London. This, he said, was due to lack of experience. America had, he believed, however, learned thoroughly its financial and industrial dependence on the rest of the world.

"A bankrupt world, unable to consume and pay for goods," said Sir Edgar, "is as ruinous to America as it is to any other country."

"Even raw products, like cotton, wheat, tobacco, sugar, copper and spelter, have brought disaster to all those engaged in producing them in the United States. The great manufacturing nations of the Old World were the principal consumers of those materials, and when the rest of the world failed to absorb from those countries their manufactured products, then there was no market for the United States materials."

"America soared high in wages and salaries, in general extravagance, and luxury, and consequently her high cost of living went to a degree far beyond anything that occurred in this country."

"The thoroughness of America's captains of industry and the zest for hard work and vigorous activity among the mass of the work-people are factors we shall have to reckon with. They will call for all our English brain and muscle and character to keep pace with, let alone surpass."

"The general physique of Americans has advertised itself in sufficiently concrete form in the achievements over here during the past year in every phase of sport."

TOOK PLUMBER LONG TIME TO GET DRINK

(By United Press.)

Denver, Sept. 7.—Henry Turner, a Denver plumber, left a repair job for 15 minutes to get a drink of water, and returned eight months and 10 days later.

Turner called at the home of Dr. Lillian Pollock, December 6, 1920, to fix a water pipe. At 7:45 o'clock that morning he left to get a drink of water, and told Dr. Pollock he would be back in 15 minutes. At 8 o'clock, the morning of August 16, 1921, Turner showed up at Dr. Pollock's residence and asked where his tools were, as he wanted to complete the job he had just left.

He refused to believe he had been gone eight months, and told physicians that he remembered of being struck on the head by something when he went out for 15 minutes, December 6. The next he remembered, he said, was being in a hospital at Syracuse, N. Y. Physicians say Turner's case is one of amnesia, although they are puzzled as to how he should remember the repair job when he had forgotten practically everything else.

BUILDING TRADES WORKERS WAGES CUT BY LANDIS DECISION

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Wages of 60,000 building trade workers in Chicago were cut from ten to forty cents an hour in a decision handed down by Judge K. M. Landis today. Forty trades were effected by the decision.

Judge Landis had been asked to arbitrate. The decision is expected to rush a new building boom.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS DECLINING

REPORTS TO UNITED PRESS FROM
CITIES IN ALL SECTIONS
SHOW IMPROVEMENT

New York, Sept. 7.—Unemployment is declining and public and private projects now getting under way will bring further relief, according to information obtained by the United Press today from cities in all sections of the country.

Many cities and states have taken steps to meet the problem of the jobless and others are about to do so, following the example set by the federal government in calling an unemployment conference. Secretary of Commerce Hoover has practically completed plans for this conference which he has submitted to President Harding.

Little or no acute suffering was reported from large cities and indications are this condition will continue.

St. Louis, Cleveland, Buffalo, Atlanta, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Pittsburgh were among the large cities which reported unemployment to be decreasing.

Ohio plans to take care of her jobless by work on roads and other public roads. Many cities today reported the number of jobless men estimated by officials and chamber of commerce in touch with the situation to be far less than generally supposed. St. Paul reports the fewest jobless—between five and six thousand.

Ford Accepts Proposal To Discuss Offer for Muscle Shoals Plant

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—Henry Ford today announced acceptance of the invitation of Secretary of War Weeks that he come to Washington to discuss the proposal Ford has submitted for the purchase of the Muscle Shoals plant. Ford, it was learned, is going to Washington prepared to fight those who have attacked his offer.

No Greater Than Last

St. Paul, Sept. 7.—Unemployment in the twin cities is not greater than last year at this time and there is no need for alarm, Robert L. Morgan, manager of the federal, state and municipal joint employment bureau said today.

There are between five thousand and six thousand unemployed in St. Paul now. The situation would have been worse this fall than last year were it not for the fact there is more building. Farm labor is beginning to return to the cities and unless lumber companies open pretty strong in the timber there will be difficulty here, Morgan said.

HALF OF GRAIN CROP DUMPED ON MARKET

AS RESULT PRICES RECEIVED BY
FARMER BELOW THE COST
OF PRODUCTION

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Sept. 7.—Nearly half of the 1921 grain crop has been dumped on the market in the first month of the harvest season James R. Howard, president of the American farm bureau federation said today.

As the result prices received by farmers have dropped far below the actual cost of production, he said.

"About forty per cent of this year's grain crop in the United States has been unloaded," Howard estimated.

The habitually disorderly market system of the country has broken down under pressure of 130,000,000 bushels of wheat thrown on western grain terminals in one month, he told farmers at the Minnesota state fair grounds.

The remedy for the situation is a national cooperative marketing, he said.

He presented a statement prepared by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce in President Harding's cabinet. In the statement it was indicated there was nothing in credit and business conditions of the country to warrant pressure on the farmers to rush their grain to market or sell their crops until needed for actual consumption.

BUILDING TRADES WORKERS WAGES CUT BY LANDIS DECISION

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Wages of 60,000 building trade workers in Chicago were cut from ten to forty cents an hour in a decision handed down by Judge K. M. Landis today. Forty trades were affected by the decision.

Judge Landis had been asked to arbitrate. The decision is expected to rush a new building boom.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS DECLINING

REPORTS TO UNITED PRESS FROM
CITIES IN ALL SECTIONS
SHOW IMPROVEMENT

New York, Sept. 7.—Unemployment is declining and public and private projects now getting under way will bring further relief, according to information obtained by the United Press today from cities in all sections of the country.

Many cities and states have taken steps to meet the problem of the jobless and others are about to do so, following the example set by the federal government in calling an unemployment conference. Secretary of Commerce Hoover has practically completed plans for this conference which he has submitted to President Harding.

Little or no acute suffering was reported from large cities and indications are this condition will continue.

St. Louis, Cleveland, Buffalo, Atlanta, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Pittsburgh were among the large cities which reported unemployment to be decreasing.

Ohio plans to take care of her jobless by work on roads and other public roads. Many cities today reported the number of jobless men estimated by officials and chamber of commerce in touch with the situation to be far less than generally supposed. St. Paul reports the fewest jobless—between five and six thousand.

Ford Accepts Proposal To Discuss Offer for Muscle Shoals Plant

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—Henry Ford today announced acceptance of the invitation of Secretary of War Weeks that he come to Washington to discuss the proposal Ford has submitted for the purchase of the Muscle Shoals plant. Ford, it was learned, is going to Washington prepared to fight those who have attacked his offer.

No Greater Than Last

St. Paul, Sept. 7.—Unemployment in the twin cities is not greater than last year at this time and there is no need for alarm, Robert L. Morgan, manager of the federal, state and municipal joint employment bureau said today.

There are between five thousand and six thousand unemployed in St. Paul now. The situation would have been worse this fall than last year were it not for the fact there is more building. Farm labor is beginning to return to the cities and unless lumber companies open pretty strong in the timber there will be difficulty here, Morgan said.

HALF OF GRAIN CROP DUMPED ON MARKET

AS RESULT PRICES RECEIVED BY
FARMER BELOW THE COST
OF PRODUCTION

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 7.—Nearly half of the 1921 grain crop has been dumped on the market in the first month of the harvest season James R. Howard, president of the American farm bureau federation said today.

As the result prices received by farmers have dropped far below the actual cost of production, he said.

"About forty per cent of this year's grain crop in the United States has been unloaded," Howard estimated.

The habitually disorderly market system of the country has broken down under pressure of 130,000,000 bushels of wheat thrown on western grain terminals in one month, he told farmers at the Minnesota state fair grounds.

The remedy for the situation is national cooperative marketing, he said.

He presented a statement prepared by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce in President Harding's cabinet. In the statement it was indicated there was nothing in credit and business conditions of the county to warrant pressure on the farmers to rush their grain to market or sell their crops until needed for actual consumption.

ROAD BUILDING FUND $26,000,000

SEVEN THOUSAND MILES OF ARTERIAL HIGHWAYS TRANSFERRED TO STATE CARE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Minnesota this year is launching an enlarged public highway development program under the Babcock Plan, formulated by Charles M. Babcock, state commissioner of highways, and adopted under an amendment to the state constitution by a vote of 526,936 to 199,603.

Federal aid forthcoming on the former basis, Minnesota will have available this year approximately $26,333,000 for state trunk and county local road improvements. Commissioner Babcock has just returned from Washington where he fought for federal highway legislation for farm-to-market roads as provided in the Minnesota program. The 1921 highway fund estimate is exclusive of paving and other street improvements being made by cities and towns through local expenditures.

Previous to the adoption of the Babcock plan, all public highway maintenance and improvements in Minnesota were made by county and city or town authorities. The Minnesota Highway department acted largely in an advisory capacity, especially on federal and state aid projects. Highway funds represented the federal aid apportionment of $2,840,000 a year, and the proceeds of a 1 mill tax apportioned in aid to counties and on local levies, and last year made a grand total of about $15,000,000.

The Babcock Plan, adopted by constitutional amendment, transfers to the state about 7,000 miles of arterial or trunk highways for future maintenance and improvement. It provides that an onerous tax may be levied, in lieu of other taxes, on motor vehicles and that the proceeds, together with any federal funds apportioned, shall be used for the improvement of the trunk highway system.

Trunk highways listed in the constitutional amendment extended into every section of the state, through the important cities and towns and the regions making Minnesota known as a state of ten thousand lakes.

Adoption of the constitutional amendment followed a vigorous campaign directed by a semi-public corporation which had branches in every community in the state and raised for its support approximately $100,000 in contributions. Minnesota newspapers were given the lion's share of credit for the success of the campaign and continue to co-operate with the trunk highway department toward maintaining public interest in good roads now that the new plan is being launched.

The amendment became effective, Jan. 1, 1921, but because of many administrative problems presented the legislature did not provide the department machinery until April 25. After extensive investigation and study, the one man system of highway administration was adopted in preference to the commission or board plan. Highway statutes were completely recodified.

A schedule of motor vehicle taxes was worked out, owners paying in lieu of other taxes and licenses, except wheelage levies in some cities, 2 per cent annually on the basis of the factory price listed, with depreciation allowances of 25 per cent after 3 years and 50 per cent after five years, and tax minimums of $12 on pleasure cars and $15 on trucks. Nearly $6,000,000 this year is expected under the schedules given.

In the first three months of road building under the new plan, the following was accomplished:

About 6,200 of the 7,000 miles of trunk routes temporarily designed and taken over by the state for maintenance.

An "army" of 1,126 patrolmen covering the system to smooth temporary routes until permanent improvements can be extended.

Another big maintenance force, equipped with 150 trucks and 50 tractors—surplus war equipment rebuilt for road work—shaping up highways for patrolmen where necessary.

Office and field forces increased from a small number to nearly 3,000 employees, exclusive of hundreds on contract work. Administration expense held to less than 7 per cent of total expenditure.

Approximately $8,000,000 of new construction for 1921 completion in about 75 scattered sections placed under contract at prices from 15 to 50 per cent below 1920 levels charged counties.

CAPT. FONCK SAYS FRENCH AVIATION IS AT STANDSTILL

(By United Press)
By WILFRID FLEISHER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Paris. (By Mail.)—Aviation in France is at a standstill, according to Captain Rene Fonck, France's greatest ace, now deputy in charge of aeronautics in the Chamber, and there will be no change in the situation until the government has liquidated the large fleet of aeroplanes left over from the war.

Captain Fonck downed 126 German planes, the official records of the army credit him with 75, the number which he brought down within the French lines. He fought over 500 air duels and totaled 2,500 hours flight during his war service. He has been decorated by almost all the Allied governments and is a grand officer of the Legion of Honor.

"The government was left with 7,000 army planes on its hands when the armistice was signed," Captain Fonck told the United Press. "In addition to this, Germany delivered 3,000 planes to us. Until we liquidate this war stock there will be little chance for recovery in the building line. Our factories could not keep going if it was not for foreign orders."

"Our army aerial appropriation for 1922 is 300,000,000 francs. In addition to this the government has appropriated 40,000,000 francs as a subsidy for private companies to encourage the development of civil aviation. Without this subsidy the companies could not operate."

"We are handicapped in France by short distances, a 2-hour flight lands us in London or Brussels, 5 hours takes us into Italy. In the United States you have wonderful possibilities for cross-country flying."

Captain Fonck expects to sail for the United States in October to study aviation conditions.

POOR OLD DOBBIN IS FAST HEADED FOR THE MUSEUM

(By United Press)
New York, Sept. 8.—"The horse will be virtually only a subject for natural history museum in the United States within a decade," F. W. Fenn, secretary of the national motor truck committee, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, declared today.

"This animal, which has served mankind for ages, is disappearing so rapidly as a result of his displacement by motor machinery that even now he is almost a curiosity in the larger cities."

"The value of the horse has depreciated to such an extent that thousands of farmers are holding onto them merely because they can't sell them, and when those they own at present lose their usefulness, they will be replaced by automobiles and tractors."

"Of course, the racehorse will remain with us, but in numbers he is negligible."

Fenn said the forthcoming report of the N. Y. board of health will show there are approximately 10,614 less horses were recently sold in Portland, York City today than in 1919.

"Other localities besides New York report similar reductions in the horse population," he said. "Registered stallions in Wisconsin decreased from 2,437 in 1918 to 1,688 in 1920. Ohio had 965,000 horses in 1917 and only 862,000 in 1919. One hundred and sixty horses were recently sold in Portland, Oregon, for chicken feed."

"There were approximately 25,000,000 horses in our country two years ago. If these could have been disposed of, automobiles and motor trucks substituted, the value of the wheat that could have been raised on the land then required to feed horses would have been sufficient to pay our national debt, including the Liberty Bond issues to date."

CARE OF RUSSIAN REFUGEES BIG JOB FOR THE L. OF N.

By HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Geneva. (By Mail.)—What to do with the 300,000 to 400,000 Russian refugees who are now scattered throughout almost every state in Europe will constitute one of the most complicated problems to be solved by the second general assembly of the League of Nations which convenes here on September 5.

The question of these Russian refugees has now reached such proportions as an international problem that it has been definitely decided by the European states belonging to the League that it can no longer be handled by individual governments. As a consequence, the problem will be taken up by the League of Nations with the co-operation of the International League of Red Cross Societies and the International Red Cross committee.

Extensive information has already been sent in to the League relative to the situation of the Russian refugees in different countries by South Africa, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Spain, France, Great Britain, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. This will serve as a basis for the international action to be formulated.

The problem is complicated, involving not only the legal status of these people in the different countries, but political, financial and economic aspects as well.

Based upon the information and the various suggested solutions which have been offered by the various European governments to date, the council has decided that the first step to be taken is that of the appointment of a high commissioner whose task it will be to co-ordinate the work being done not only by all European governments but by all private associations on behalf of the Russian refugees.

High Russian representatives have asked the League to appoint, if possible, to this position a Serbian, who, because of the analogy of race and language, will probably be better adapted for inspiring confidence among Russian refugees.

Whilst awaiting the appointment of this commissioner, the council has ordered the League's secretariat to convene the officials responsible in each country for the welfare of the Russian refugees to discuss the problem.

One of the problems to be looked into is the possibility that sums of money and property belonging to the various Russian governments that have been sequestered in different countries be constituted into a relief fund for the Russian refugees.

Another task will be that of directing these refugees into various countries where work can be secured for them.

In the meantime each government will be asked what amount of money it is now spending on behalf of Russian refugees and how much it may be able to contribute towards the general funds necessary for handling the problem on an international basis and for maintaining the international organization.

One of the especial ends that will be recommended to the high commissioner will be that of forming as many of the refugees as possible into colonies in different countries with especial attention being given to the social and ethical status of those making up each colony.

HAND PAINTED GOWN IS COMING TO NEW YORK

London. (By Mail.)—Carlo Norway, inventor of the hand-painted frock, which is to be an autumn fashion feature in London, is on the eve of departing to the United States to introduce the fashion there for the fall season.

Norway, one of the leaders of the younger art colony in London, conceived the idea of painting on silk, velvet and similar textiles during ten years of experimenting in various methods of painting and etching.

His exhibitions at London art galleries were always popular and he had been the hit of several general exhibitions with his varied work in paintings, pastel, applique, wall and window decorations, glassware vases, bowls, line-cuts, curtains and even wallpaper.

A few months ago Norway began stencilling on cloths. The work was done largely for his own pleasure, merely to find what effects were possible. A brother artist, Louis Fox, thought of the possibility of applying the stencilling to dress materials. This was a great success, and Fox suggested marketing stencilled frocks and gowns. The frocks were an immediate hit. The Duchess of Rutland, Lady Cunard and Lady Hamilton were pioneer wearers, and, as an absolutely individual design could be guaranteed, it was not long before the idea caught on.

For several weeks, orders have been multiplying from dealers. In some cases individual designs are wanted; in others a dozen or more frocks of one design.

It is almost impossible to duplicate designs except from the original stencil. Any sort of design is possible. Most have been figured; in some, allegorical designs of animals, birds and fish have been used.

The oil paint used is impervious to water, and will not crack. Due to the success of the experiment here, Norway decided to go to New York for the autumn season.

A pioneer in the movement for better treatment of sick or injured livestock is Dr. C. A. Nelson, who anxious to give farmers and stock raisers and dairymen the best of service has started the erection of a veterinary hospital measuring 50x68 feet on a site 50x150 feet in size near the corner of Fourth and Laurel streets. The building will be one story in height with a ten foot ceiling, concrete floors and will be built of hollow tile with a stucco finish.

On the ground floor will be the office, private garage, two operating rooms, five box stalls, five single stalls, feed and harness room, ambulance and truck room, etc. The roof will be of the gambrel type, self-supporting. The basement has been dug and work on the structure will soon be under way under the direction of Contractor C. B. Rowley.

The average farmer is not well equipped to take care of sick or injured animals and $5,000 dairy cows and $10,000 prize bulls can now be hauled to town and given the care their value demands at a veterinary hospital.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

Adds 5 New Members to the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday Evening

Tuesday evening a business and social meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held at Miss Engsborg's office at the court house. The following names were recommended by the membership committee: Edna Mahlum, Delia Koop, Nora Brady, Ida Ordahl and Evelyn Storm. By a unanimous vote of the club, these young women were admitted to membership.

Part of the evening was devoted to the making of decorations, etc. for the welcome to the teachers Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce. A great interest is being taken in this informal reception and a surprise is in store for those who attend.

An orchestra composed of some of the members of the club is rehearsing in the basement of a prominent home, and special costumes have been contracted for. Name cards will be presented to the guests and members on arriving, so no formal introductions will be necessary.

NORTHERN MINN. FAIR AT BEMIDJI

The Northern Minnesota Fair, to be held at Bemidji September 20-22, will contain the largest and most varied program ever offered the people of Northern Minnesota. Preparations have been in progress for months, erecting new buildings, booking attractions and securing exhibits. An additional ten acres of land was purchased to make possible the enlarged program of the fair.

September 20 is Entry Day. There are to be three big afternoon and evening programs. The St. Paul Flying Circus, with its death-defying stunts, a horse-racing program on the newly constructed track, livestock displays that will be second only to the State Fair, a new modern grandstand, capable of seating 2,500 people, with 48 exhibition booths all included under one roof.

There will be merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, and many other amusements for the public—horse shoe pitching contests, and vaudeville acts in front of the grandstand afternoon and evening of every day on a specially constructed stage.

A real fashion show, with 35 beautiful models displaying the season's latest modes, will be given in the evening of two days. There will be half a dozen bands to contribute music during the entire fair, included in which will be Bemidji's celebrated Juvenile Boys' Band of 100 pieces.

Military parades by the Naval Militia and National Guard, auto polo contests, championship football game, and many other sports will keep every day brim full of interest.

Liberal purses have been provided for premiums. Boys' and Girls' Club exhibits will be a big feature. The machinery display will be the best ever shown—and of industrial exhibits, there will be plenty. Every day will be crammed with features.

Exhibitors who have been in the habit of exhibiting only at the large fairs, have advised the management that they will have their exhibits at Bemidji on these dates. It will be a great community gathering.

John F. Woodhead, Frank S. Workman and A. A. Gieriet have returned from a trout fishing expedition that led into a foreign country, in other words the three fishermen motored along the Grand Marais road and across the boundary into Canada.

They had a world of experiences as attested in black and white by scores of kodak pictures snapped. There was wonderful scenery of rocks and gorges and mountain streams and larger rapids and waterfalls, coupled with hundreds of miles of well kept roadways and small stations and log houses and tented homes.

A car rear axle gave way at one point but there were enough mechanics in the party to quickly fix a small thing like that.

much more widely prevalent than it has been this season. While it attacks serious proportions at times the disease usually disappears after having taken a toll of from 5 to 50% of the effected herd—that is where no preventative measures are taken.

"We seem to reduce this percentage materially by vaccination. The exact value of vaccination has so far not been scientifically known, but practically it is a very efficient preventative measure. This vaccine was originated by federal bacteriologists about 10 years ago when the elks in the Yellowstone park were dying in great numbers from this disease which we call Hemorrhagic Septicaemia. It then checked the disease and we have been using it with good success ever since."

Dr. C. A. Nelson said as far as he knew, not over 12 or 15 cattle had died from hemorrhagic septicaemia in Crow Wing county.

UNEMPLOYMENT TO BE THEIR STUDY

EXPERTS WILL SOON BE CALLED TO WASHINGTON TO CONFER ON GREAT PROBLEM.

RESULTS ARE VERY DOUBTFUL

Proposed Remedies for the Industrial Situation are Many and Varied—People Say They are Becoming Tired of Conferences.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—There will be held in Washington shortly a meeting of men to make what is called "an intensive study of the industrial situation and of the causes of a condition which has forced nearly six million American men and women to idleness."

Apparently no official in Washington seems to think that means can easily be found to put the idle back to work, but it seems to be the hope that somehow something can be done, through legislation or otherwise, to relieve the present situation. There are doctors enough with their cures for the trouble, but most of the doctors disagree as to the remedy, and as one high official put it, the man who can find a remedy not only will be a public benefactor, but can write himself down as the first person who ever succeeded in overcoming that rare old partnership of supply and demand.

As a matter of fact, no one here believes that the men who are to come here to discuss unemployment will be able to suggest anything definite that will relieve the situation, unless the recommendation shall follow the line of suggestions of legislation of various kinds which already has been proposed.

There are men here who say that if congress will put the railroads back into running, so to speak on smooth rails, and will supplement proper legislation for the benefit of the agricultural interests, all will be well; but here again one runs up against conflicting views. There are men who think that the railroads do not need any additional legislation for their benefit and that the farming interests already have been sufficiently provided for, and that therefore something entirely new in the way of legislation is needed to start the factory whistles of the country to blowing again.

People Tired of Conferences.

Washington, in the person of the congressmen temporarily here resident, constantly gets intimations from the country at large that the people are sick of conferences. Some of the criticisms run along the line of "too much talk." If the tone of some of the letters which are received has the right ring, a great many American citizens would prefer that conferences should be few and far between and that some legislation designed to end the idleness trouble should be tried even if there is no certainty that it will do the job and put men and women back to work.

There have been conferences of all kinds in the past on almost everything which has been considered worthy of the attention of the high thinkers of the country. History shows that out of these conferences specific relief rarely has come. It is believed today that the administration would not have sanctioned the proposed conference on the condition of idleness in the country if it had believed that its own specific recommendations for legislation were certain to be accepted without being buttressed by the opinion of conference called from here, thither and yon.

The detailed plans for the conference will be prepared by Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce. Secretary of Labor Davis will cooperate with Mr. Hoover in preparing the plans. It is certain, of course, that what loosely are called capital and labor will be represented at the meeting.

Disagree on Legislation.

Concerning some of the legislation which the administration evidently desires to have put through for the purpose of ending unemployment, there is a vast gulf of disagreement between representatives of the employers and representatives of the employed. Legislation for the relief of the railroads is a point at issue. The executives of the roads look at it one way and men employees look at it another way. There will be some kind of a compromise on legislation, but the history of things ever since the days of the Missouri Compromise goes to show that compromises generally are only strong enough to struggle through a short life.

It is certain that there is economic trouble in the country. Some six millions of Americans have acute knowledge of this fact. Men and women who made big wages during the war and did not waste their money, are much better off today than their brothers and sisters who also made big money but who insisted on enrolling themselves in silk shirts and Alaska seal skins. The virtue of thrift is preached from a good many pulpits of the land every Sunday, but there are some millions of Americans today who apparently stand ready to say that experience is a better teacher than any preacher.

An Engagement Ring.

Irene—"Has he proposed to you yet?" Eleanor—"No; but he has an engagement ring in his voice."

145 YEAR OLD WILL DIVIDES $25,000,000

Zion, Ill., Sept. 8.—Under the terms of a will made 145 years ago and just discovered, John Taylor, railroad auditor, will share half an estate of $25,000,000 in Holland, his attorneys announced today. Peter Taylor, his great grandfather, was born in Scotland but went to Holland in 1709 and amassed a fortune. He died, leaving a will which was not to be opened for 100 years, according to Taylor's attorneys. To will made 145 years ago, was recently discovered by Amsterdam lawyers. John Taylor and a brother, Peter Taylor, of Scotland, are said to be the only heirs to the estate, which attorneys assert is still intact.

PLENTY ROOM FOR DAIRY SHOW VISITORS; RATES REASONABLE

Many farmers in the northwest who are planning to attend the National Dairy show, to be held at the Minnesota Fair grounds October 8 to 15, will be pleased to learn that there will be plenty of room in hotels and boarding houses to accommodate them during the period of this big agricultural educational exposition, and that they need have no fear of being charged exorbitant rates. This assurance has been given by the hotels, the St. Paul Association and Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association. All the railroads have agreed to give reduced and excursion rates, consisting of one fare and a half, so every thing possible has been done for the comfort and the economical interests of the prospective visitor to the National Show.

The same comfort will be found in the world's biggest cattle barn at the Fair grounds, where the show will be held. At an outlay of $100,000 this great building has been modeled to take care of more than 150,000 square feet of exhibits and to accommodate 2,000 head of cattle. Complete heating apparatus has been installed, and a big mezzanine floor has been erected, where the exhibits will be displayed, in addition to the immense exhibition on the main floor.

Superstitions About Leeks.

Leeks are supposed to be harbingers of good fortune in Wales, and when one finds a leek growing on the wall about the house there is expectation of some great happiness coming to the inmates. In often times the leek was supposed to keep witches away.

FABER, COVELESKIE AND GRIMES STAND OUT AS WET-BALL ARTISTS

Pitchers Who Use the Speed Splitter.

Spitball pitchers—dying race in major league baseball—are having trouble with the new lively ball as well as the dry-ball hurlers.

Only the fast-ball pitchers are proving effective.

Of the fifteen major league pitchers eligible to moisten the ball, but three in the American league and four in the National have won more than half their starts.

Of these Urban Faber of the White Sox, Stanley Coveleskie of the Indians and Burleigh Grimes of the Dodgers are the real wet-ball aces, writes Dean Snyder in the Chicago Post. They all use the speed splitter.

Faber Is Ace.

So far this year Faber outranks the great Coveleskie, recognized before as the king of splitters.

What makes Faber's victory record all the more brilliant is the fact that he is backed up by a team—now a mere shell of the defense put up by the old Sox machine.

Covey should hit his stride soon and give the Sox star a race for throne honors by the end of the season.

In the National league Burleigh Grimes is the leading moist ball pitcher. Phil Douglas of the Giants has a better record, but has not worked as many times.

How long this race of pitchers will last is questionable. One by one they will drop by the wayside.

Wears Arm.

The moist ball trick is wearing on the arm.

Coveleskie, the great-hearted Shamokin miner, however, doesn't think wetting the ball hurts his pitching super. Perhaps Covey is too rugged to note the strain yet.

Before this year the splitters could get by without whipping the speed into every ball. They'll burn up faster now at the pace they have to travel in order to gain effectiveness.

Besides Faber and Coveleskie other American leaguers on the accredited list of Ian Johnson to fling the splitter are: Urban Shocker, St. Louis; Jock Quinn, New York; Dutch Leonard, Detroit; Allan Russell, Boston, and Ray Caldwell or Al. Sothoron, Cleveland.

Caldwell has practically dropped the wet-ball delivery altogether under Tris Speaker's advisement and is doing better without it.

Allan Sothoron, formerly of St. Louis and now with Cleveland, takes Caldwell's place as an eligible splitter for the Indians. But he's slipping and unless Speaker can revive him won't be in the big show long.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

By CORA E. CRAWFORD.

(Copyright, 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Aren't they lovely?" Betty was caressing the blooms that had just arrived via messenger.

"Who's the nut?" sardonically inquired her brother.

"Robert, do you think that's nice?" remonstrated mother, as Betty's face took on the deeper flush of temper.

They were at dinner. Betty was dressed in readiness for that cavalier who would shortly follow his floral offering. Bob had been silent and noticeably downcast during the meal.

Just then the phone rang and put an end to any further bickering. Bob arose with alacrity and flushed eagerness, not unmixed with hope, and dashed to answer the call. His vibrant voice was quite audible in the dining room.

"Yes—yes, it's Bob! . . . No, I wasn't going! . . . You—you mean it? . . . Oh, I say, don't. You needn't be sorry; it wasn't your fault—it was all mine! . . . Well, let's forget it! . . . Forgive you? 'Course! When will you be ready? . . . Is there? You better! . . . Am I glad you called! Say, I'll tell the world I'm tickled silly! And I'll tell you tonight! . . . lowering his voice. But the very intensity of his whisper burned its way to the ears in the dining room.

Rather sheepishly Bob resumed his seat at the table. The fond sympathy in his mother's eyes did not make the mocking rally in Betty's any the easier to bear.

"Who's the nut, Bobbie? That fluffy little kitten that has been purring round you lately? Imagine a girl answering to the name of Kitten! You've rubbed her fur the wrong way, have you? That's why he couldn't eat his dinner, mother!" jeered Betty, provokingly.

"Betty, dear, don't. You know Kitten's very sweet. And she likes Bob, I'm sure," mother hastened to soothe with a fond glance at her son.

Then Betty hastened to put on those few necessary finishing touches, and Bob dashed upstairs to dress. Both were very happy and satisfied with life. A troublesome problem had been solved. Mother sat dreamily on at the table. She was smiling quietly and enigmatically to herself. For she had a thought all her own!

Three weeks later the grand masque of the Literary club "came off." The masque was the unique climax of the successful season.

Following announcement, each character, made immortal by some famous author or poet, was obliged to walk the full length of the hall, the orchestra playing proper accompanying strains. Appropriate applause greeted each presentation, but it was when Romeo and Juliet were announced that the "house came down," so to speak. There was much applause, a great deal of laughter, and some sighs. For there were six Romeos and six Juliets! (When will this romantic tale cease to intrigue the heart of youth?) But by what tragedy had one Romeo been Julietless? The sighs of relief went up to the God of Chance, who had thus ordered an even number!

It was an absolutely perfect evening—"the best ever," both Romeo and Juliet thought to themselves. "You dance divinely!" breathed Romeo, once, emerging from his assumed character.

"And you!" she murmured, giving him hand a responsive pressure.

Again, just before unmasking time, "Who ARE you?" demanded Romeo, intensely. He was quite sure she was no one he had ever known.

"Why, Juliet, to be sure—fill 12 o'clock," demurely.

"And then?" leaning closer. "I shall always be—Romeo, but who will YOU be?" His voice trembled a little.

"Maybe—Juliet!" She skillfully evaded his embrace and he followed her into the hall again, for well he knew that there were five other Romeos that had cast covetous eyes upon his Juliet, and many other youths who evidently forgot that only Romeos should be eligible to Juliets. As for Juliet, she was not averse to her cavalier's insistence.

Almost before they knew it, unmasking time was upon them. They were thrilled through and through! Palpitating masks were removed and eager eyes sought eager eyes. Then, across their faces, there chased in rapid succession many, many emotions. Eagerness gave place to blank astonishment, swift and startling, not unmixed with wonder and incredulity! Then unbelief, wild denial, cold horror, a great deal of sheepishness and embarrassment!

But a keen sense of humor finally asserted itself and there came a twinkle of amusement, followed by a burst of healthy, hearty, appreciative laughter. Admiration was the final expression in the eyes of both.

"Some Juliet!" wholeheartedly conceded Bob.

"Some Romeo!" echoed Betty.

Then, as both caught mother's merry and satisfied eye in the balcony, "Some schemer!" they murmured.

A Bad Beginning.

"Your new salesman didn't last long."

"No brains."

"Eh?"

UNEMPLOYMENT TO BE THEIR STUDY

EXPERTS WILL SOON BE CALLED TO WASHINGTON TO CONFER
ON GREAT PROBLEM.

RESULTS ARE VERY DOUBTFUL

Proposed Remedies for the Industrial Situation are Many and Varied—
People Say They are Becoming Tired of Conferences.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—There will be held in Washington shortly a meeting of men to make what is called "an intensive study of the industrial situation and of the causes of a condition which has forced nearly six million American men and women to idleness."

Apparently no official in Washington seems to think that means can easily be found to put the idle back to work, but it seems to be the hope that somehow something can be done, through legislation or otherwise, to relieve the present situation. There are doctors enough with their cures for the trouble, but most of the doctors disagree as to the remedy, and as one high official put it, the man who can find a remedy not only will be a public benefactor, but can write himself down as the first person who ever succeeded in overcoming that rare old partnership of supply and demand.

As a matter of fact, no one here believes that the men who are to come here to discuss unemployment will be able to suggest anything definite that will relieve the situation, unless the recommendation shall follow the line of suggestions of legislation of various kinds which already has been proposed.

There are men here who say that if congress will put the railroads back into running, so to speak on smooth rails, and will supplement proper legislation for the benefit of the agricultural interests, all will be well; but here again one runs up against conflicting views. There are men who think that the railroads do not need any additional legislation for their benefit and that the farming interests already have been sufficiently provided for, and that therefore something entirely new in the way of legislation is needed to start the factory whistles of the country to blowing again.

People Tired of Conferences.

Washington, in the person of the congressmen temporarily here resident, constantly gets intimations from the country at large that the people are sick of conferences. Some of the criticisms run along the line of "too much talk." If the tone of some of the letters which are received has the right ring, a great many American citizens would prefer that conferences should be forgotten and that some legislation designed to end the idleness trouble should be tried even if there is no certainty that it will do the job and put men and women back to work.

There have been conferences of all kinds in the past on almost everything which has been considered worthy of the attention of the high thinkers of the country. History shows that out of these conferences specific relief rarely has come. It is believed today that the administration would not have sanctioned the proposed conference on the condition of idleness in the country if it had believed that its own specific recommendations for legislation were certain to be accepted without being buttressed by the criticism of conferences called from here, thither and yon.

The detailed plans for the conference will be prepared by Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce. Secretary of Labor Davis will cooperate with Mr. Hoover in preparing the plans. It is certain, of course, that what loosely are called capital and labor will be represented at the meeting.

Disagree on Legislation.

Concerning some of the legislation which the administration evidently desires to have run through for the purpose of ending unemployment, there is a vast gulf of disagreement between representatives of the employers and representatives of the employed. Legislation for the relief of the railroads is a point at issue. The executives of the roads look at it one way and men employees look at it another way. There will be some kind of a compromise on legislation, but the history of things ever since the days of the Missouri Compromise goes to show that compromises generally are only strong enough to struggle through a short life.

It is certain that there is economic trouble in the country. Some six millions of Americans have no knowledge of this fact. Men and women who made big wages during the war and did not waste their money are much better off today than their brothers and sisters who also made big money but who insisted on enfolded themselves in silk shirts and Alaska seal skins. The virtue of thrift is preached from a good many pulpits of the land every Sunday, but there are some millions of Americans today who apparently stand ready to say that experience is a better teacher than any preacher.

An Engagement Ring.

Irene—"Has he proposed to you yet?" Eleanor—"No; but he has an engagement ring in his voice."

145 YEAR OLD WILL DIVIDES $25,000,000

Zion, Ill., Sept. 8.—Under the terms of a will made 145 years ago and just discovered, John Taylor, railroad auditor, will share half an estate of $25,000,000 in Holland, his attorneys announced today. Peter Taylor, his great grandfather, was born in Scotland but went to Holland in 1799 and amassed a fortune. He died, leaving a will which was not to be opened for 100 years, according to Taylor's attorneys. He will make 145 years ago, was recently discovered by Amsterdam lawyers, John Taylor and a brother, Peter Taylor, of Scotland, are said to be the only heirs to the estate, which attorneys assert is still intact.

PLENTY ROOM FOR DAIRY SHOW VISITORS; RATES REASONABLE

Many farmers in the northwest who are planning to attend the National Dairy show, to be held at the Minnesota Fair grounds October 8 to 15, will be pleased to learn that there will be plenty of room in hotels and boarding houses to accommodate them during the period of this big agricultural educational exposition, and that they need have no fear of being charged exorbitant rates. This assurance has been given by the hotels, the St. Paul Association and Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association. All the railroads have agreed to give reduced and excursion rates, consisting of one fare and a half, so every thing possible has been done for the comfort and the economical interests of the prospective visitor to the National Show.

The same comfort will be found in the world's biggest cattle barn at the Fair grounds, where the show will be held. At an outlay of $100,000 this great building has been modeled to take care of more than 150,000 square feet of exhibits and to accommodate 2,000 head of cattle. Complete heating apparatus has been installed, and a big mezzanine floor has been erected, where the exhibits will be displayed, in addition to the immense exhibition on the main floor.

Superstitions About Leeks.

Leeks are supposed to be harbingers of good fortune in Wales, and when one finds a leek growing on the wall about the house there is expectation of some great happiness coming to the inmates. In olden times the leek was supposed to keep witches away.

FABER, COVELESKIE AND GRIMES STAND OUT AS WET-BALL ARTISTS

Pitchers Who Use the Speed Spitter.

Spitball pitchers—dying race in major league baseball—are having trouble with the new lively ball as well as the dry-ball hurlers.

Only the fast-ball spitters are proving effective.

Of the fifteen major league pitchers eligible to moisten the ball, but three in the American league and four in the National have won more than half their starts.

Of these Urban Faber of the White Sox, Stanley Coveleskie of the Indians and Burleigh Grimes of the Dodgers are the real wet-ball aces, writes Dean Snyder in the Chicago Post. They all use the speed spitter.

Faber is Ace.

So far this year Faber outranks the great Coveleskie, recognized before as the king of spitters.

What makes Faber's victory record all the more brilliant is the fact that he is backed up by a team—now a mere shell of the defense put up by the old Sox machine.

Covey should hit his stride soon and give the Sox star a race for throne honors by the end of the season.

In the National league Burleigh Grimes is the leading moist ball pitcher. Phil Douglas of the Giants has a better record, but has not worked as many times.
